

S-KIF STUDIO

FREEDOM OF FORM
UNIQUE TEXTURES

THE NATURE OF STUDIO S-KIF

S-Kif Studio is a workshop dedicated to the creation of bespoke sculptures and unique textures, based on an artisan and artistic approach. Each work produced by the studio is an invitation to explore materials, question form and enrich interior spaces with unique creations. The studio is particularly aimed at interior designers looking for unique pieces that interact with their projects.

PHILOSOPHY AND EXPERTISE

Research and innovation are at the heart of S-Kif's work. Each project begins by listening carefully to the client's needs and aspirations. We then experiment with paper pulp to push the boundaries of creativity while maintaining a traditional approach.

The result? Pieces with strong emotional value, capable of bringing a real artistic dimension to the spaces they occupy.

The studio favours a bespoke approach where every detail counts. Textures, shapes, the play of light: everything is considered so that each creation blends in harmoniously with its surroundings, while at the same time standing out from them.

SCULPTING AND TEXTURING: DUAL EXPERTISE

The S-Kif studio has two main focuses:

- Tailor-made sculptures: works created specifically for a site or project, whether monumental wall decorations, freestanding sculptures or light installations.
- Unique textures: in-depth research into materials and surfaces, resulting in creations that offer unique tactile and visual effects capable of transforming the ambience of a space.

Each piece invites discovery and imagination, giving people the freedom to interpret it in their own way.

LATEST PROJECT

S-Kif Studio is always looking for new opportunities to apply its know-how to unique projects, combining aesthetics and personalisation. Recently, our work was showcased in the lobby of the Palace Hotel Minos in Crete.

This collaboration resulted in the installation of sculptures and pendant lighting, as well as the creation of a bespoke wall decoration. The works, both sculptural and textural, give the space a strong identity and blend harmoniously into the overall ambience. This project was completed to a tight deadline with meticulous attention to detail from design to installation.

INTERVIEW

What is it that inspires you in your work?

A lot of my inspiration comes from the unknown, the strange and what doesn't exist yet. I like to explore living forms and textures, trying to give the material a soul. The idea is always to provoke emotion, reflection or interpretation in the viewer.

How would you describe S-Kif's identity?

The studio is first and foremost a space for experimentation. Each project is an opportunity to explore new ideas, to adapt traditional techniques to contemporary visions and to create works that interact with their environment. The studio's identity is based on this duality between technical mastery and artistic freedom.

What's the biggest challenge in your custom projects?

The main challenge is to combine the precise expectations of each client with an artistic approach that remains true to the studio's identity. This requires a great ability to listen, but also a certain audacity to propose unique solutions. Every project is an adventure in itself.

Have a dream project you'd like to realise?

I'd like to work on an immersive installation where sculptures and textures combine to create a total sensory experience. A place where visitors can lose themselves in a singular universe and escape the real world for a moment.
